

Four Crosses Pub, Mennai

Description

The pub was built in 2 phases and was still open for business therefore Pochin's had to remove half of the roof and work on that and also demolished various internal walls along with the external toilets. A new extension was built and eventually a full new roof was erected. In keeping with the tradition of the building beamed ceilings were put in and the stone walls were exposed. A large doorway was formed 1 metre deep and 3metres in width. A temporary roof was built over the existing toilets which were refurbished.

Client

Frederic Robinson

Value

£0.6M

Type of Contract

Traditional

Consultants

Frederic Robinson
Structural Engineers: Marsden & Grundy